Sales Tax - Refund

While visiting in Colorado I paid state sales tax. Can I claim a reimbursement for the tax paid?

There is no exemption from sales tax for visitors to the state of Colorado. Anyone who purchases tangible personal property in Colorado must pay sales tax on those purchases. All purchases are subject to sales tax unless specifically exempted. For example, purchases by either a tax exempt entity or a political jurisdiction are usually exempt from tax if they have tax exempt organizational status and proof of that exempt status. See FYI Sales 3 "Out-of-State Tax Exempt Organizations Doing Business in Colorado."